Homeowners 'up in air' over noise program

By ANN PARKER
MCN Special Writer

Metro Airport's 9-year old Noise Mitigation Program is significantly behind schedule and has spent nearly $58 million on purchasing and sound insulating 830 homes in Huron Township and Romulus. Originally, close to 3,000 homes were approved for this program and each were eligible to receive aluminum siding, replacement of exterior doors and windows, air conditioners, up-graded electrical systems, extra layers of drywall, added attic and/or wall insulation, and modification of vents, if needed.

To get an idea of what some Romulus homeowners are saying about the program, I visited with some who are awaiting sound-proofing and others who have already had their homes sound-proofed. Below is a synopsis of the comments made by the homeowners.

Beverly Road - Awaiting Sound Assessment

Florence and Emil Dragnosits have been waiting, since 1993, to have their home on Beverly Road assessed for the sound insulation program - she doubts whether she'll ever get to the work-in-progress stage. She has made numerous phone calls and visits to the staff running the program and has yet to get any concrete answers about when contractors will begin work on their home.

The Dragnosits' say that planes fly so close to their home that they can "...almost read the numbers on the planes as they are coming in..." The couple added that on some days 7 - 8 planes fly over their house within a 30 minute time frame. Florence says the noise from the planes have affected every aspect of her life - she has difficulty being heard and talking on the phone; the windows rattle; she gets static on the TV; and her dog is "nervous." Emil says they have seen fuel drops from the airplane on top of their car. He thinks it comes from the exhaust system during takeoff; it is like a black soot. The couple wanted to sell their home to the program, but was told their house was just outside of the acquisition boundaries. They listed their home with a local real estate agent, but received no offers.

Terry and Brenda Ramsay live next door to the Dragnosits'. The Ramsays signed up for the program nearly 2 years ago and have yet to have a noise assessment done of their home. Needless to say, the couple is anxious - they are tired of having their pictures and knickknacks fall off the walls and of having to replace cracked windows, periodically.

Fred Williams lives down the street from the Ramsays' and the Dragnosits'. He has lived in his house since 1965 and though he says that living in a flight path does cause some inconveniences - he smells fuel oil on heavy atmospheric days and the siding on the flight side of his house is faded - he does not want to live anywhere else. Williams signed up for the program in May, 1998 and has never had a noise assessment done of his home either.

Many Dissatisfied Homeowners

According to Linda Choate, clerk for the City of Romulus, of those residents who have had their homes sound insulated, many are dissatisfied with the quality of the workmanship. Choate says she has had residents complain that their homes were too tightly sealed, causing condensation to form on windows and walls. Residents were told by program officials and contractors that their homes had to be sealed tightly to prevent noise from seeping in through the cracks.

Choate says one homeowner complained that workers failed to clean the inside of a double paned sound barrier window before caulking and sealing. The workers refused to remove and clean the window - so the homeowner was left to gaze at smudge marks, fingerprints, and dirt.

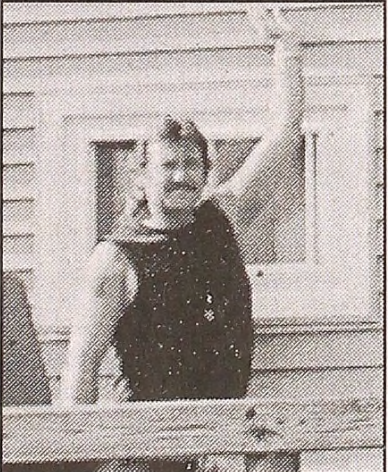

Taft Street - Soundproofing Done - Not Satisfied

Ollie Turner, a mechanic with DPW, and nearly a dozen of his neighbors on Taft Street, were part of Phase I, and have had noise assessments and sound proofing work done on their homes. Unfortunately, not one of them were completely satisfied with the quality of the workmanship. Many of them have had to take money out of their household budgets to pay for the bungling done by the contractor's workers. Turner's home received a new furnace, central air conditioning, windows, doors and vinyl siding. He had to hire a contractor to redo parts of the siding, because of a large gap between the siding's flashing under the shingles.

Ellis and Johannah Debruhl, are experiencing similar problems as Turner. The couple said water is leaking behind the siding, causing the wood frame of the house and windows to rot; some of the inside windows have mold. Johannah says that water is leaking into their family room, as a result of how poorly the vinyl siding was installed.

Jim Handerson lives directly next door to the Debruhl's. Their homes are made of the same material - wood and sheet rock, yet Handerson was denied vinyl siding for his home. After numerous inquiries, Handerson was told by Sate Representative Ray Basham, that Len Singer, spokesperson for the Wayne County Noise Mitigation Program, said "If he fixed your mistake, he would have to fix them all and that would cost too much money." Handerson's garage was sound-proofed, but he could not get his porch soundproofed. He received central air conditioning, windows and doors, but he has been waiting for nearly a year for new doors, because the doors that were originally hung are now warped.

Robert and Marianne Rose, had to take down the siding around their old windows before the contractor could install the new windows. The couple assert that Bruce Renshaw it would be too expensive to pay someone to take the siding down.

The air conditioning was installed last October; it just started working this June. Rose says every window that was hung was the wrong size and had to be built up with 2x4's on the sides. Rose is replacing the interior trim for 11 windows. Renshaw told him the program would not absorb this expense. As it turned out, the worker hired to install the windows told the Rose's he was a dry waller, not a window installer. Marianne had to show him how to install the windows.

Colbert Street - Soundproofing Done - Not Satisfied

Daniel Banks has not been able to use the expensive double paned sliding door off his dining room, in the winter, since it was installed nearly 3 years ago. Banks had a wooden deck built just off his dining room prior to the work by the soundproof program. According to Banks, the gap between the sliding door and the wooden deck should have been insulated underneath and caulked on top. As a result, the sliding door freezes, if closed in the winter from condensation.

Banks says he has had 2 dryers burn out within 2 years as a result of the dryer vent being rerouted. Instead of extending directly from a basement window, the workers rerouted the vent to outside the house, underneath the wooden deck. In doing so, built the vent with 6 - 7 too many bends, causing lent to build up; now the dryer overheats, and eventually the heat elements burn out. Banks was also refused insulated windows for his basement because of costs.

The outside of Banks' house has broken siding as a result of power lines being moved - too low, in fact - he is concerned about his grandchildren grabbing the power lines. Workers bored too many holes in the siding, some are so deep that water and snow get in; his inside walls are already showing signs of condensation.

Dan Brown says the second story of his house is smoldering hot in the summer, even with the central air conditioning the sound insulation program installed for him and his family a few years ago. Brown said the upstairs is much colder in the wintertime than before; the result of faulty duct work. He said his family was more comfortable using electric heaters. Brown would like to see the program send a new contractor out to redo the heating/cooling system in his home. Needless to say, when Brown sent in the evaluation form he just recently received in the mail, his comments were not favorable.

New Castle - Soundproofing Done - Not Satisfied

Ron Turner, Ollie Turner's son, lives in a beautiful home on a beautiful piece of property. You would never suspect that anything was wrong with his house - until you get up close. Turner has a laundry lists of repairs - 27 to be exact. Some of the vinyl siding on his house is missing, some buckles, some pieces are cracked, and some of it is discolored; the light fixture near the front door is rusted and dangling; some of his door handles flop in the air; some of the mortar in the master bathroom is cracked; a $650 antique lamp was broken; there are gouges in his $3800 central air conditioning unit, a result of workers standing on it.

As a result of water leaking into one of the bedroom windows, the drywall beneath the window rotted and left a big hole, that was eventually patched, but the program is refusing to repaint the wall pink, asserts Turner. He has been battling with administrators and contractors of the program since 1998. First Choice, the first contractors hired to work on his home did so much damage, that their insurance company had to end up paying him nearly $4000. A second contractor was hired, and their work was just as sloppy. Turner says this company did not even pull permits to work on his home. He just recently hired an attorney to negotiate resolution of his repairs with the program.

City Officials Express Concern

Richard Marsh, Romulus' Director of Economic Development is concerned about the number of complaints the city has received about faulty workmanship and wants to see the airport address the concerns of homeowners as soon as possible.

Most of these homeowners will eventually have their concerns addressed, but according to Choate, there is a whole class of homeowners whose concerns will never be addressed - Romulus' mobile park homeowners. Program officials have excluded this class of homeowners from the insulation program, even though these families have been subjected to as much noise as any other homeowners whose home lies directly under or in close proximity to the airport's flight path. When mobile park homeowners asked for an explanation, program officials responded that since these homes are not built on solid foundations, it would be too difficult to insulate them. Some city officials think that costs was the determining factor in excluding mobile homeowners from the insulation program.

Current Status of Program

Unfortunately, because of the complaints lodged by homeowners about delays in start-up and completion of work and faulty workmanship, as well as complaints by sub-contractors for non-payment, and allegations of fraud and mismanagement of funds, the Federal Aviation Administration has decided to withhold FY 2000-2001 sound insulation funding from the program. The Noise Mitigation Program receives 80 percent of its funding from the FAA in the form of grant reimbursements. Wayne County matches with a 20 percent passenger facility charge. The FAA had earmarked $35 million to Metro Airport's Noise Mitigation Program to be released at a rate of $5 million per year over the course of seven years, beginning in 1997 and ending in 2004. The program is not slated to be completed until 2007. The U. S. Department of Transportation's Office of the Inspector General lodged a full scale investigation after having received a hotline complaint alleging fraud by one of the general contractors working with the program. The general contractor had overstated the level of participation by the Disadvantaged Business Enterprise.

Wayne County set up a special task force the beginning of this year to discuss ways to improve the Noise Mitigation Program, based on recommendations made by the OIG. Wayne County Commissioner John J. Sullivan, vice-chair of the special task force, thinks that there are far too many entities involved in running the program. Metro Airport's Noise Office and a program manager from the airport's Capital Improvement Plan are currently running the Noise Mitigation Program. Commissioner Sullivan would like to see there be only one firm responsible for overseeing the entire program.

The FAA has expressed similar sentiment. According to Commissioner Sullivan, federal officials have recommended that airport officials hire a specific firm. This firm has a renowned reputation for managing noise mitigation programs at other major airports. Sullivan was not willing to divulge the name of this national firm. Commissioner Sullivan wants homeowners with concerns about the program to call his office at 313/ 224-0944.

Area survives decade's worst heat

By ANN PARKER
MCN Special Writer

Last week's excessive temperatures wrecked havoc in some people's lives and caused minimal disturbance, if any, in the lives of others.

On Wednesday, the temperature hit 100 degrees, the highest it has been since August 1995. Monday's temperature hovered around 95 degrees; on Tuesday, the temperature climbed to 96 degrees, and by Thursday, temperatures had dropped to 90 degrees. Add the heat index - humidity - into the equation, and then add 5 degrees more to each day's temperature. And what you ended up was 4-days of life-threatening temperatures.

Romulus' Fire Department treated more than a half of dozen people for heat related emergencies Tuesday through Friday. Complaints ranged from dizziness, to lightheadness, to having difficulty breathing.

The firefighters were also sent out to extinguish at least three grass and field fires. Fortunately, the fires were extinguished before any major damage occurred.

According to Amy Middleton, Divisional Director of Marketing and Corporate Communications for Oakwood Healthcare, Oakwood's Wayne facility, located on Annapolis at Venoy, saw its biggest increase in heat related emergencies on Tuesday, August 7 and Wednesday, August 8.

Middleton estimates that over the 2-day period, several dozen people each day were treated for a variety of heat related problems, ranging from shortness of breath, to dehydration and chest pains, to having passed out. Some people were brought in by ambulance, many were walk-ins; the majority were treated and released.

On Wednesday, August 8, nearly 30 kids showed up for a bike safety class, in spite of the extreme heat. The kids were met in the parking lot by the Romulus Police Department and told the class was re-scheduled to Wednesday, August 22, from 10:00 am - 2:00 pm, and given coupons to Burger King for showing up for the class, in spite of the heat.

Managers of Romulus' two senior citizen buildings gladly reported that neither had any heat related emergencies. Romulus Tower, located on Bibbins, has 126 air-conditioned units. None of the residents reported any malfunctioning of their air conditioning units during last week's heat wave.

Whispering Willows Co-op Apartments, located on S. Wayne, has 64 air-conditioned units. None of the residents reported any malfunctioning of their air conditioning units. However, the entire facility did experience a power outage Thursday night, from approximately 12:00 midnight to 1:00 a.m.

Walt Mandruch, manager of the Kroger Store, on Michigan

Avenue, in Wayne, stated that his store "saw increased movement of ice, water, soft drinks, and produce." Fortunately, the store never ran out of any of the products and never had to place any emergency orders with vendors.

Blue Dot of Michigan, a national cooling, heating, plumbing and electrical company that services residents in and around Romulus, saw a 25 percent jump in customer requests for service and installed twice as many new air conditioners during last week's heat wave, as compared to sales during the same time frame last year. The company provides service 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. According to Blue Dot Services, we have already had 12 more days of 90-degree temperatures, as compared to this time last year.

Jim Rink, AAA spokesperson, said statewide they received 16,862 Emergency Roadside Service calls between Monday and Thursday. According to Rink, AAA received an average of 4,215 calls per day, up 17.5 percent for the same 4 days a year ago. Generally, AAA gets an average of 2,700 calls per day in August, but this month the company received 3,100 calls per day. Rink offers a cautionary message - if you do not want to become one of AAA's statistics, keep your radiator filled with fluid - it is just as important in the summer as it is in the winter.

NEWS FROM THE CITY OF INKSTER

Ballroom dancing comes to Inkster

If you haven't heard about the exciting new Ballroom Dancing classes held at the Booker T. Dozier Recreation Center, you soon will.

The word is out and the dancers are taking to the floor.

Classes are conducted by Calvin Sibert, known by friends and students as Mr. Smooth. A longtime and talented professional instructor, Calvin is assisted by his lovely and equally-talented wife, Jackie.

Ballroom dancing apparently is one of the best kept secrets in town.

A black-tie extravaganza climaxed the end of the first class, and the second class will be staged on Sunday, Sept. 9. There will be continuous dancing until late fall, until Nov. 8.

Dancing lessons will be offered from 4 to 6 p.m. There is a $6 per person cost.

Ball Room Dancing is quite a departure from the Hip-Hop, Hustle, Wave and Rabbit styles.

The graceful ballroom dancers are a delight to watch, and even if you do not dance, the music is relaxing and enjoyable.

The Smooth Connection Ballroom Steppers invite you to join them as they sail on the Carnival Imagination from Miami, Florida to Grand Cayman and Ocho Rios, on Oct. 5-10 in the year 2002.

For additional information about the five-day Western Caribbean itinerary and the complete cruise package, please contact Anna Davis at 313-238-5859; Calvin and Jackie Sibert, at 734-326-6841; Floyd and Myrtle Powell, at 734-467-8520; Deborah Dyson-Bridges or Linda Burgess Travel, Inc., at 248-559-3200 or 1-800-955-5154.

Springhill hosts special event for special person

By THEOLA JONES
MCN Special Writer

Springhill Missionary Baptist Church will host a special event for a very special person.

The congregation will honor the Rev. Dr. Oscar Carter and his lovely wife on Friday, Aug. 24. The occasion for the special ceremony is in honor of Rev. Oscar's 15th pastoral anniversary.

An appropriate theme has been selected for the celebration. It is (i)A Servant of Christ entrusted with the mysteries of God and proven to be faithful. (r) Corinthians 4:12.

Events for the anniversary are listed as follows: August 24 - an Appreciation Banquet which will be held beginning at 6:30 p.m. There is a $20 donation recommended at the door. The banquet will be staged at the Booker T. Dozier Parks and Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road.

The keynote speaker for the program is the Rev. A. J. Pointer, president of Wolverine State Convention.

Then, on Aug. 25, there will be a 9 a.m. Aug. 25 Prayer Breakfast that will be held at the Springhill Baptist Church, 3655 Springhill. On Aug. 16, there will be a church worship service beginning at 11 a.m. and the guest speaker is the Rev. Wendell Harris, pastor of Greater Mt. Olivet Baptist Church in Detroit.

At 3:30 p.m., the Rev. Frederick Sampson, the pastor of Tabernacle Missionary Baptist Church of Detroit will take to the podium.

The special anniversary ceremony is open to all residents and friends. There is a deadline for reservations.

Registration must be submitted to the church before Aug. 17. Please telephone 734-728-2298 for further information.

Women of the Year program to feature Doris Biscoe

Doris Biscoe, who rose from street reporter to anchor at WXYZ-TV and presently is president of her own corporation, Doris Biscoe Communications, Inc., will be the keynote speaker at the 2001 Women of Achievement celebration.

The program honors local women and their accomplishments. It is sponsored by Inkster-base YWCA.

The program also will feature Attorney General Jennifer M. Granholm, who will be the Mistress of Ceremonies.

The Women of Achievement Awards Luncheon will be staged at 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 2 at the Fairlane Club in Dearborn. Traditionally, the program recognizes women in Western Wayne County who have made outstanding contributions to business and community.

It also creates an opportunity for community leaders to encourage and recognize leadership among women.

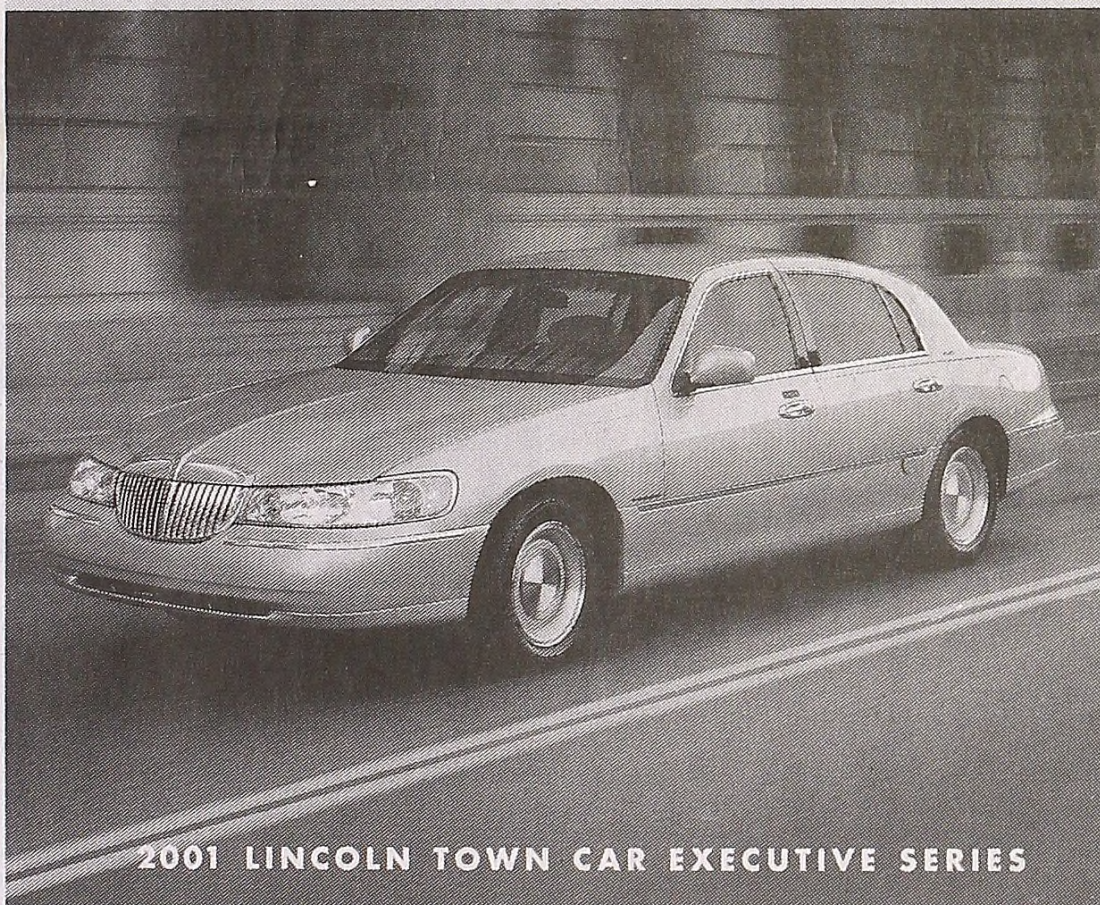

For ticket or more information about the awards luncheon, please contact the YWCA at 313-561-4110, extension 10. The YWCA facility is located in the City of Inkster, 26279 Michigan Avenue.

NEWS FROM THE CITY OF WAYNE

Community activist, council clash

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

A community activist said Tuesday that he wants lawmakers to live by the laws they pass.

Mark Blackwell, an often-critic of council, armed with photos, blasted former city officials and present lawmakers for violating their own blight laws. He displayed photos of what he believed was evidence of blight and debris at the property sites, violations, he says, by present and former city officials of the recently approved blight laws.

Blackwell told council the exterior of Councilman Al Haidous's store was in shambles, of dire need of paint. Debris indiscriminately was tossed around the building.

"I feel you should be setting an example, councilman Haidous," said Blackwell. "But you're not."

Blackwell also criticized the alleged debris-shattered properties owned by former mayor, Ken Warfield, and present Councilwoman Josephine Lentine.

Haidous responded by accusing Blackwell of attempting to politically embarrass him during an election year. The lawmaker pointed out that he was in the midst of repainting and fixing up the building, and that he (Blackwell) chose the specific time to bring attention to the store to embarrass him during the election campaign.

Haidous is up for reelection. He has decided to challenge incumbent, Robert J. Dickerson, for the mayor's office.

"Your motivation to attack me at this time is purely political," a visibly angry Haidous replied.

Later, Blackwell said that he had no hidden agendas.

"If lawmakers are going to make laws, they have an obligation to live by them. That is all there is to this," said Blackwell.

Blackwell also singled out

Lentine for criticism. He said that when the (blight) ordinance was being discussed by council, Lentine revealed she had an old canoe in her backyard and she wanted to remove it because she felt it was blight.

Blackwell later said he approached Lentine with an offer to help her remove the old canoe but his offer was rejected.

"I was told by Councilwoman Lentine that she didn't need my help," Blackwell said.

Blackwell had earlier criticized Warfield's properties. According to Blackwell, Warfield's property on Michigan Avenue is in dire need of repairs. Warfield was not at the council meeting to respond. He was unable for comment prior to press time on Tuesday.

But Lentine said she had disposed of the canoe and other debris in her backyard and that Blackwell's criticism was unwarranted.

"Who do you think you are coming in here and bad-mouthing Haidous and Warfield and attacking me," Lentine countered. "You don't know me. Why are you doing this?"

Mayor Robert J. Dickerson spoke in defense of the council members. He said that he believed that Blackwell went too far in his criticism.

"You came in here with to do a job on Haidous and Warfield, and I have to take partial blame for this because I didn't stop you. However, I won't allow this to happen again."

City Manager John Zech said that some of the damage done to the Warfield building was inflicted by a contractor who backed a vehicle into it, and that the repairs would be made.

Blackwell said that, as a citizen, "I was only doing my civic duty and, as a citizen and taxpayer, I will continue to express my opinion when I deem them warranted."

Church members honor pastor

Members of the New Hope Baptist Church, who successfully moved to their Michigan Avenue site, honored their pastor of 11 years last Sunday.

A special worship hour and a reception were conducted in praise of Rev. Virgil Humes, long-time pastor at New Hope Baptist Church in Wayne.

New Hope Baptist completed their new building at 33650 Michigan Avenue earlier this year.

Congregation members noted that "Rev. Humes is a strong, prayerful and visionary leader. Under his leadership, the church has more than tripled its membership and have moved from an 8,000 square foot building to a spacious 24,000 square foot structure located in the central business district of the City of Wayne."

Rev. Humes has been an active part of the civic as well as school communities. He has served as mentor to students in several school districts and parent-groups.

Popular as a guest speaker, Rev. Humes has been the keynote speaker at graduations, assemblies, Career Days and for many other programs. His tireless stand against racial discrimination has made him a leader in the fight for equality and justice for all people. Judges, mayors, state and local city councils and boards of education have prayed with him and his congregation.

Flu shots offered

The Wayne Senior Activity Center will be offering flu and pneumonia shots this fall.

Reservations will be accepted by dialing 721-7460 beginning Wednesday, Sept. 5. The flu shot will cost $15, while the pneumonia shot is $25.

Fees for both vaccines are covered by Medicare, but recipients must have their cards available at the time of the shots.

The shots will be provided from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Oct. 24. For more information contact the Wayne Senior Activity Center.

Affordable housing

Wayne city officials participated in groundbreaking ceremonies for 15 affordably-priced homes, known as Courtyards at Chamberlain. The homes will be located on Van Born Road, east of Chamberlain Street. The new homes are being constructed by Canton-based Cooper Creek Developments and will be priced in the $180,000 and up range. Participating in the ceremony are City Manager John Zech (from left); City Planner Matthew Miller; Cary Belovicz, of Cooper Creek Development; Mel Belovicz, also of Cooper Creek; council members Donna McEachern, Al Haidous and Josephine Lentine, and Community Development Director Peter McInerney.

Maple Manor to host Meals on Wheels benefit

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Maple Manor Retirement Community in Wayne will team up with Wayne County's popular "Meals on Wheels" program to host its inaugural Maple Manor Classic Car Show.

The Classic Car Show will be held from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. Sept. 16, in the Maple Manor Retirement parking lot, at 3999 Venoy Road.

"Maple Manor and Meals on Wheels are both organizations that provide valuable services to our seniors," said Bryan Neal, assistant director of Maple Manor. "Our interests are similar. We ultimately want to assist seniors who are in need."

"And we felt that co-sponsoring an event such as a car show was a perfect way to show the local and surrounding communities that we care."

Wayne County provides meals to seniors who are home-bound and may not be able to fend for themselves. The meal county program is called Meals on Wheels.

"Wayne County's Meals on Wheels has always been dedicated to our seniors. We wanted to give something back to the public as well as create more awareness of our wonderful cause," added Pam Dobrowolski, deputy director of Wayne, Senior Citizens Services.

During the car show, radio station WOMC will be broadcasting live, providing information about the festivities.

The public is invited free of charge.

There will be refreshments for a nominal charitable donation to Meals on Wheels. All proceeds will be donated to purchase additional meals for home-bound senior citizens.

Lifeguard training

Wayne Parks and Recreation officials announced this week that they will host a National Pool and Waterpark Lifeguard Training Program for those who are interested in becoming lifeguards.

The program will run from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Aug. 22 through Aug. 26 at the Wayne Aquatic Area, 4635 Howe Road.

Registration will be accepted at the Wayne Aquatic Area by telephoning 734-721-2244.

There is a $120 registration fee. Participants must be 15 years old or older to register.

Congratulations On Your Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Jones, Jr. of Westland announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, LaToya D. Jones, to DeAndre K. Elliott, son of Alphonso and Charlene Aaron of Romulus. Ms. Jones, a graduate of the University of Michigan, is a program specialist for the internal events team at the Detroit Regional Chamber. Currently, she is pursuing her master's degree in business management at Walsh College. Mr. Elliott graduated from Northwood University and works as a customer installation engineer at Verio, an Internet service provider company. He plans to pursue a master's degree in business information technology at Walsh College this fall. The couple will be married August 31, 2002 at Amity Baptist Church in Inkster.

Westland candidates for mayor run clean campaigns so far

For the first time in many years, the Primary Election on September 9, will feature mayoral contests in Detroit, Dearborn and our own Westland. Although Gil Hill and Kwame Kilpatrick appear to be running away with the election in Detroit, and the Primary in Dearborn has been extremely ugly from the start — one candidate has had his car vandalized three times — the contest in Westland has been competitive and relatively clean.

The Westland contest features three well-known politicians — Council President Richard LeBlanc, Police Chief Emery Price and former council president and current councilwoman, Sandra Ciccirelli.

Fortunately, for Westland residents, any of the three will make a better mayor than our current leader. LeBlanc, has a tremendous amount of grassroots support. Price is the candidate of choice for many currently involved with city government. Ciccirelli has amassed a lot of support among unions.

Although the Price campaign appears to have lost several signs over the weekend, for the most part, the three candidates ought to be commended for their honest, above-board campaigns.

All three have been very visible in their community. One watcher notified us that poor Sandy Ciccirelli was delivering campaign literature door-to-door when the heat index was 107 last Wednesday. I hope she didn't have too many doors shut in her face.

Politics have turned ugly in Sumpter Township. Steve Kunselman, current Township Administrator, and a nine-year employee of the township, has his head squarely on the chopping block.

Since a new wave of politicians were voted into office last year lead by Supervisor Elmer Paragghi, there has been one acrimonious fight after another at township hall creating what some employees think is a hostile working environment.

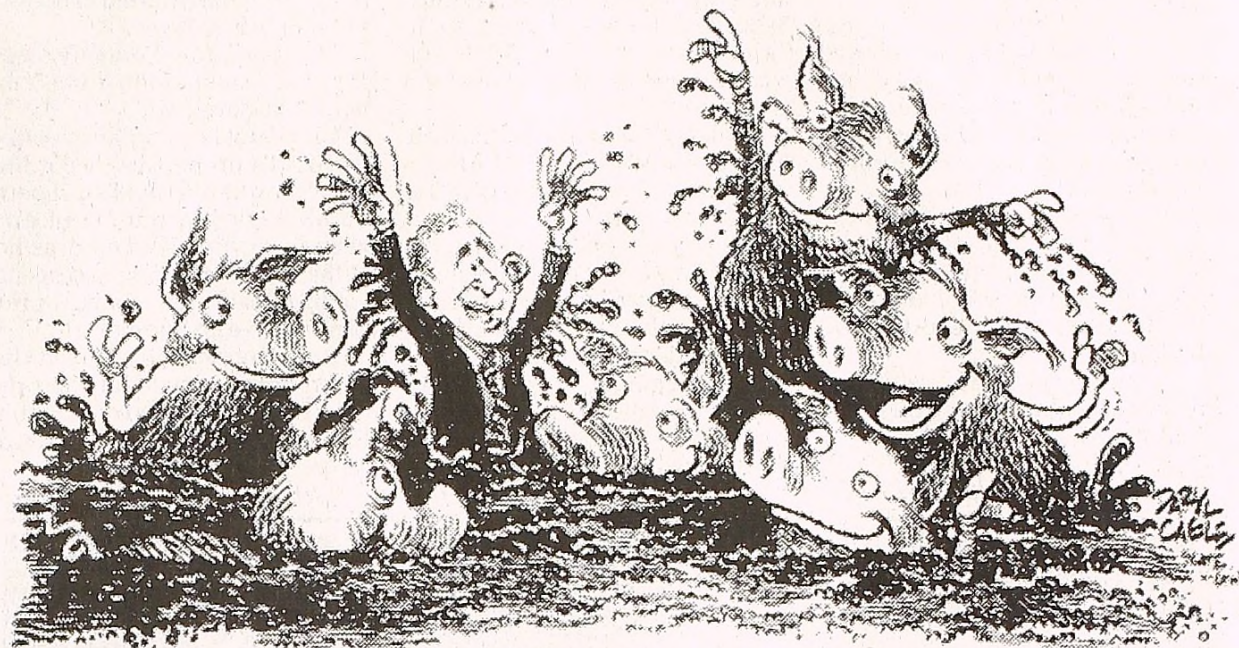

In an effort to help employees through the rough times, Kunselman signed a contract with a counseling center that would allow employees to receive counseling for work-related stress. The contract was for only $1,800.

The new regime and their supporters strongly objected. 650 residents signed a petition seeking Kunselman's dismissal because supposedly the administrator by township charter hasn't the ability to approve such a contract without board approval. However, a second petition, signed by township employees, strongly support their boss and his efforts to make the work environment more peaceful.

Give Kunselman his due. He has the reputation as a quality administrator and could go most anywhere for higher pay and a peaceful job environment. However, he is making his stand with the new elected regime, and hopes time will bring peace to his job and a very divided Sumpter Township.

NAME "VACATIONING" AT HIS RANCH IN TEXAS, THE PRESIDENT'S WORK DAY LOOKS VERY MUCH LIKE IT DOES IN WASHINGTON.

Who cares about stem cell funding?

In many suburban homes across America, last week mothers and teenage daughters argued about the daughters' school wardrobes for the coming semester.

Tube tops? Exposed belly buttons? To Britney or not Britney — that was the question that mattered most.

Many families complained about the heat wave and sprinkling restrictions. The cineplex crowd repeated jokes from American Pie 2. Nostalgic hot rodders debated strategies for beating the crowd at this weekend's Woodward Dream Cruise.

Nothing special. Life went on. Life was good.

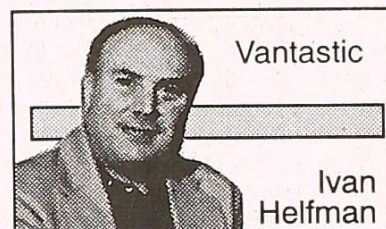

But if you turned on your TV, listened to talk radio, or in anyway exposed yourself to the ravings of the national news media, you got caught up in the end-of-the-world hype of the government funding of stem cell research debate.

So what?! I say. But to President George W. Bush, the hypster in chief, government funding of stem cell research was a big deal.

"The conflict has left Americans divided, even in their own minds," W. wrote in "Stem Cell Science and the Preservation of Life," a recent article.

The president also dealt with the "conflict" last week by addressing an uneasy nation about the burning issue. This speech, according to a Wall Street Journal editorial, saved us from a moral crisis, if not a second Civil War.

"Only a week ago the Washington consensus was that President Bush had no way out of his stem-cell research dilemma," the WSJ said. "He was trapped between religion and science. But now, four days after his Thursday night prime-time address, it's clear Mr. Bush has set the country on the road to what might become a political and moral consensus." (Actually, Bush was the only one trapped, trapped by an unpopular campaign promise to a special interest group not to fund the research — but that's for another column.)

Vantastic

While I can't speak for "the country," I can't recall being trapped between religion and science last week. As always, religious activities involved faith, ritual, and prayer. Scientific activities involved experimentation, measurements, and reports according to the scientific method.

Religion and science are not in conflict. They are just different and they serve different purposes. Each has its place. Each has a long history of use and abuse, of good and bad twists and turns in the human soap opera.

But outside the national media, the stem cell research funding hoopla was a nonevent. As a scientific question, it not only was irrelevant, it came late in the game.

"The fact," according to Scott Rosenberg in Salon, "is that thousands of embryos were destroyed each year before stem-cell research was an option, and thousands will continue to be destroyed each year no matter what Bush decided. These embryos are a by-product of in vitro fertilization techniques that are in widespread use today by couples who have difficulty conceiving children by natural means. These couples aren't 'anti-life'; they're trying to have families. Modern science, in its miracle-working clumsiness, can help them, but excess embryos are an inevitable by-product. Since there are far more embryos than donors willing or eager to provide wombs for them, even those couples who have qualms about destroying their unwanted embryos aren't often able to find an alternative."

Take stem cell research out of the equation and the destruction of embryos continues. Thus, if there is a question of scientific ethic or religious ethics, then it should revolve around vitro fertilization techniques — a topic Bush has ignored.

More important, though, is the question of scientific ethics. It boggles my mind to see the talking heads on the Sunday news shows devoting hours debating stem cell research funding while ignoring research on biological or nuclear weapons — research that has led to mass murder.

Scientific ethics should dictate that the fruit of scientific discoveries are not used to kill innocent people. Though scientists can never know where a discovery can lead, ethical scientists should be bound to report the evil potential of their work and follow safeguards to see that a future Hitler or Timothy Leary doesn't misuse the discovery.

Purely evil discoveries, such as a lethal germ to be used as an offensive weapon, should be extremely regulated (for example, to enable the US to develop antidotes to germ warfare), if not banned.

From the government's standpoint, there should be laws regulating potentially harmful research. For example, a scientist should check in with a monitor before creating a Frankenstein monster.

The government should keep an eye on biological weapons, genetic research, and stem cell research. The results of research should be a concern of science, government, and religion.

But the focus should be on preventing evil results, not restricting Man's God-given curiosity and intelligence.

As for the national media, please quit the stem cell research hype until scientists are ready to clone Britney Spears. Then suburban America will have something to talk about.

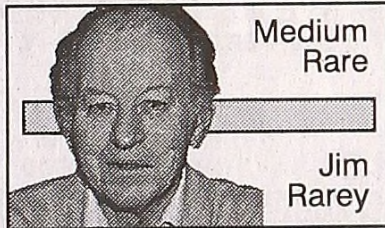

Duggan takes a dive — again

When Wayne County Prosecutor, Michael Duggan, was the right hand man of county executive Ed McNamara, he had the reputation of being tough and uncompromising if not ruthless. As he campaigned for the county prosecutor's office he maintained his aggressive image promising strict no-nonsense prosecution of all lawbreakers.

Upon taking office after a convincing electoral win, Duggan announced a tough new policy of no plea bargains on gun violations and domestic violence cases, which was to be followed by everyone in the prosecutor's office.

It didn't take long for a classic case to present a test of the new policy. A prominent city councilman was arrested for pistol whipping his wife and shoving her down a flight of stairs. Duggan rescued himself on the grounds he knew the councilman personally. Nothing wrong with that. But the assistant prosecutor who took over the case immediately plea-bargained the case down to a minor misdemeanor thus sparing the councilman jail time and saving his council seat.

What happened to the new department policy? I guess we'll have to wait to find out until another prominent citizen commits a gun violation or a domestic assault.

Medium Rare

Now comes an even dicier case for Duggan. A circuit court judge was arrested for proposing a homosexual act with an airport police decoy in a public rest room at the airport.

Duggan immediately searched for a way not to prosecute the judge. In his initial statement explaining why the judge would not be prosecuted, Duggan said the department would no longer prosecute such cases where the only witness was a police decoy. Someone must have explained to him that was tantamount to saying undercover police could not be trusted to give truthful testimony while under oath.

A clarification was not long in coming. Duggan explained he had been working on a new policy but would now announce it two weeks before he had planned. The change, he said, was that there would be no prosecutions where the person thought he was entering into a consensual sex act between adults where no money changed hands. Duggan applied the new policy retroactively and the charges against the judge were dropped.

Does this mean that sex acts between consenting adults, in a public place, are no longer a violation of law? Apparently Duggan thinks so. Duggan admitted the county might have to release some prisoners convicted under similar circumstances and refund some fines.

Perhaps Mr. Duggan is confused about which office he won in the election. He was elected to enforce the laws, not make them. It's not as if he is making changes to policies he disagrees with and said so in his campaign. The only apparent reason for ducking or changing his announced policies is to avoid offending prominent politicians and their blocs of voters.

Holding an elective office is a lot different than that safe appointive position, isn't it Mike?

SOUND OFF EXTRA

Westland seniors urged to take time with absentee ballots

We are at a crucial time in our city. There are many candidates running for office.

Do your homework. Please don't just pick a name on the ballot because it looks familiar to you or you like the way it sounds when you try to pronounce their name.

Read the literature you receive. Talk to people. Read the newspapers. Attend any candidate debates if offered. Make an educated vote.

It worries me that so many seniors turn in their absentee ballots the day they receive them. I know for a fact that all the candidates did not get their literature out the same time the ballots went out. Only a select few were privy to that information. Our city clerk decided to mail out 40 days before the primary. Why so soon? Most communities mail 30 days!

Take your time, do your homework. Make an educated vote!!

Caller offers gum-chewing rules for city council speakers

When addressing Westland council members, get rid of the gum or candy. Get to the point, don't babble and waste time.

Maybe you could do some research on the particular subject you are questioning before going in front of the council.

Try getting answers from the proper persons prior to the meetings, rather than asking about things that require documents from someone's office that are not available at the council meetings.

Detroit Edison could have explained what a foot candlepower measurement is. Just going to meetings to be seen on the cable channel is getting old.

Campaign signs on empty lots show lack of residential support

For years homeowners have placed political signs in their yards to indicate support for candidates of their choice. Now, more and more, we see signs on vacant lots and in front of empty buildings.

To me these signs do not indicate any support whatsoever and even indicate the candidates lack enough homeowner support to make proper use of their signs.

The most tasteless use of signs that I have seen this year is the thirteen Eadeh signs, mostly on vacant property, in a short distance along Cowan Road, just east of Wayne Road. They also indicate that his money supply far exceeds his good taste.

Please stop to think of the real meaning of all these empty lot signs as you pass by them.

Eadeh praised for 'standing up to Ms. Hessler-Davis'

Hats off to Councilman Joe Eadeh for standing up to Ms Davis, as she was obviously looking for more services from the city, but will gripe where the money will come from, I am sure.

Watchdog should have taken license number of city gas hog

What's wrong with this picture? At the last council meeting, Brenda Gracin said that she saw a vehicle fill up with free gas at the Westland DPS yard on Friday afternoon. She noted the vehicle, the passengers, the time of day — everything but the vehicle's license plate.

If she's so smart, why didn't she take down the plate number?

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

No longer shy, mom runs for council

Letter to the editor:

Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to announce my candidacy for an opening on the Westland City Council.

I am excited to be running and I am honored to have already received many kind, complimentary and encouraging words of support from Westland residents. The challenge of a campaign offers many new experiences for me, there is plenty to do and much to learn and I have welcomed the education. We are still in the early stages and I've already gained a new respect for many candidates who came before me. To those running with me I wish all the best.

Since 1991, when my husband Ron and myself were faced with the realization that our daughter's elementary school (Cooper School) was built on a site of environmental contamination, my life has changed immensely. When Cooper began and we found that we had more questions than answers, we came together with many other Cooper parents to fight for the protection of our children. Never in my life had I questioned government authority. I had always felt that the government was there to look out for your welfare.

That was not the case with Cooper, as it was a situation that clearly slipped through the cracks. Layers of government bureaucracy had to be addressed, all the way from the local School Board, to the City, the County, the State and even up to the Federal level.

To the members of the long-disbanded C.H.E.C.K. group (Concerned for the Health and Environment of our Community's Kids) I will forever owe a debt of gratitude. Your personal sacrifice of time, money, energy and love for the sake of our children and our community during the summer of 1991, helped me realize that when people work together, change is possible. I learned that citizens have a right to be heard and are owed more than a token pat-on-the-head from elected officials.

To Joan Lintleman of Livonia, my mentor and my guide as I climbed an uncertain mountain-top, I say thank you for helping me to recognize strengths in myself I never knew existed. To Kathie & Chuck Pare' of Westland, I say thanks for being friends and loyal supporters both during and after the Cooper situation. To the many other giving families, the Gesinskis, the Blackneys, the Ward Family, the Haddads, and others, God Bless you all.

Who would have thought that an average mom once too shy to even step out of her own kitchen to talk to a reporter, would some day run for city council? Life is full of challenges and opportunities to do good things. I welcome the new challenges before me and I look forward to the opportunity to be a part of making good things come about for our City. Like the Cheryl "B.C." (Before Cooper), I still have much to learn; but unlike her, I'm no longer too shy to step out of that kitchen and ask questions.

For information about my campaign please visit my website address, www.cherylgcr.com.

Sincerely,
Cheryl Graunstadt

Sumpter workers praise Kunselman

To the editor:

As employees of Sumpter Township we are writing to express our gratitude to Township Administrator Steve Kunselman. Since the beginning of 2001 the work environment has grown hostile in the Township Hall. Mr. Kunselman recognized the seriousness of the problem and made a supportive step to help the employees.

From anonymous letters, alleged gun threats and alleged physical assaults some employees felt anxious, frightened and depressed. Others felt threatened and feared for their personal safety. Mr. Kunselman had the foresight and recognized the importance of the situation and expedited a positive step to aid the employees by calling Eastwood Clinic counselors.

Without the counseling a tragic episode may have occurred. What Steve did may have averted a potentially dangerous situation. Mr. Kunselman, we have benefited from our counseling. Thank you for having the initiative to do the right thing.

Sincerely,

To the editor:

The first part of this letter appeared earlier — Ed.

Hi everyone, I've been meaning to bring up, a real pet peeve of mine. Folks, there is no such word as "lie-berry". I cringe every time I hear it. It's library. There is an R in that word and it is pronounced Brer — as in Brer Rabbit. Please don't say it's bare Rabbit. Those who say they make use of the lie-berry facilities need to find a dictionary, as well as spelling and phonics books the next time they visit.

When we were children, all of our grade school teachers were very concerned about we children sounding ignorant and were given an F in reading if we ever said, lie-berry. It ranked right up there with "chim-lee" for chimney. However, sometimes I wonder if there might just be at least one lie-berry bush, lie-berry tree, or (watch out!), a few lie-berry pies floatin' around town from which a few people are eating, as truth is a word totally foreign to their vocabulary. None for me, thank you. Just coffee, please!

Yes, as others have written, "the end is near when people eat pies." That is, if they happen to be made of lie-berries. But, looking on the bright side, it could spark a whole new hit song for the music industry: "Here we go 'round the mulberry — whoops, 'scuse me — the lie-berry bush, so early in the morning."

Conclusion: Westland has, for the most part, been a much more fun place lately. I humbly offer thanks to all of those who have cared. Westland can't be judged by a few loud-mouthed, lie-berry losers who want to destroy all of those who have worked hard to improve the image of the city of Westland.

Oh, if we could only now be known as "Westland the Dance Capital." We're workin' on it. More and more are dancing nowadays. Did you notice? Even those in the audiences are doin' more finger and toe-tappin'. Wow! Who'da thought?

See ya,
Angela Frances Todd

City of Inkster

Case No. 01-122469-CH

State of Michigan, In the Circuit Court for the County of Wayne, City of Inkster, Plaintiff, vs. Lucille M. Wilson, FUNB Custodian for PJR special, Inc., ESI-97, Mooring Tax Asset Group, LLC, and Wayne County Treasurer, Defendants. Order Allowing Substituted Service

At a session of said court held in the City of Detroit, County of Wayne, State of Michigan, on July 26, 2001.

PRESENT: HONORABLE MICHAEL F. SAPALA, CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE. This matter having come before the court for the Petition For Substituted Service and the court being fully advised in the premises.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that service of process be made upon the aforesaid Defendants in a manner which is reasonably calculated to give said Defendants actual notice of the proceedings and an opportunity to be heard;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that substituted service be made in accordance with MCR 2.105 and 2.106 to serve the aforesaid Defendants by posting at their last known address, by First Class Mail and by publication.

The Plaintiff has brought this action against Defendants and all other persons who may claim an interest in the following property in order to seek an abatement of a nuisance by demolition of the property located at 3218 Springhill, Inkster, MI, legally described as: Lot 287, Dearborn Acres Subdivision No. 2, as recorded in Liber 33, Page 79 of Plats, Wayne County Records.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Defendants shall appear before the Honorable Michael F. Sapala in room 701 of the Wayne Circuit Court at 9:00 a.m. on September 4, 2001 to Show Cause why an order should not be entered abating a public nuisance by demolition.

Candidate Kehrher is a hardworking man who loves Westland

I am a veteran and have lived in Westland for over 40 years. I have known the Kehrher family most of these 40 years.

Mike is a hardworking young man who loves this community. He has been working for us the citizens. We need a independent voice. I know he will be a great councilman.

Vote for Michael Kehrher on Sept. 11.

Recall group's 'obvious split' remains an in-house secret

I have watched, listened to and met many members of the Gracin family both during and after the recall. Though there were many moments of anger, disgust, rudeness, compassion and comedy shown before the cameras, beneath all of the intensity, I believe lies a foundation of caring.

We all express ourselves in different ways and while I may not have agreed with many of their tactics and of course things got out of hand at a point, I don't fault them for being outspoken. Nor do I fault the many, many recall workers and supporters, even those who no longer associate with the Gracins or support the same political agenda.

Only those closely involved with the group know the real reasons for an obvious split amongst the ranks.

Attention: UAW We've been given a new opportunity

Local members living in our community have screened perspective candidates for office. Who better to know about the candidates than those who actually live here? The Region has long backed the good ole boys club, with a screening board that held friends of same, and no possibility of endorsement for new candidates.

How refreshing to find some local presidents stepping up to the plate and asking for change! Just one question, please instead of just listing names, give us some credentials, for instance, how many are union?

Looking forward to some literature from the locals.

Where was candidate Wild during racial profiling flap?

Fresh faces? The face may be different, but the backers are the same. We finally see him appear on camera at council meeting with his new cause, the Southwestern Homeowners Association and the new fire station.

I wonder where Mr. Wild was when this same association was trying to get attention for racial profiling. Did he attend the police-community relations meetings? Why wasn't he standing up at the microphone then and helping?

I hope the association quickly recognizes that he's part of the old regime and sends him packing.

Chief Price thanked for getting a cleanup crew to Target mall

I would like to thank Chief

Price for arranging a work crew to clean up the trash surrounding the Westridge Target mall.

Five complaints to the building department produced nothing. Finally, someone cares

Caller skeptical about Price's cleanup of Target dumpster

In order to get the City of Westland where it should be we the citizens of Westland need to really think about the new mayor.

In response to the sound off about Price arranging for a work crew to clean up the trash surrounding the Westridge Target mall, I find that amusing, as Mr. Price cannot keep his police officers on the street working and doing the job that the citizens pay them to do instead of being at home or getting paid for not being on patrol.

Westland Police need to learn manners and how to show respect for the citizens that pay them. Chief Price cannot handle this task either. If he did get a crew to do it, rest assured someone owed him a favor.

No, I'm not a candidate. I'm a concerned citizen that does not see anyone running for the office of mayor that is worth my vote. That's sad.

Caller thanks DeHart for challenging Cicirelli's claim

I would like to thank Mrs. DeHart for setting Mrs. Cicirelli straight on the police and fire staffing issue at the last Westland City Council meeting. (Council President Sandra Cicirelli said that she led three other council members in voting to budget money for the city to hire more firefighters, money that Mayor Bob Thomas rejected. DeHart said that the full council voted to increase funding.)

Mrs. Cicirelli tried to get away with political tactics, but it didn't work. Thank you again, Mrs. DeHart.

Westland shouldn't pass ordinances unless they're enforced

I watched the first Westland City Council meeting in August. The lighting issue (an ordinance to ban light nuisances) was a joke, I thought.

When council members said that it would be the same as if you had loud music in a neighborhood or cars driving by with music too loud, ordinances that we already have.

These are ordinances that are not enforced by the Westland Police Department unless citizens complain. What good are these ordinances if the police department is not going to back them up? Why do we keep making more when we don't have a police department to stand behind them?

You shouldn't have to make a complaint if your neighbor is so ignorant to play music so loud it can be heard six houses away.

The police department should be cracking down on car stereos that you can hear 10 cars away or that wakes you up at night when they drive by.

Romulus citizens would like to find out about fishy work

The citizens of Romulus would like an investigation of Mayor Oakley and an investigation of the money situation at the airport. Also, we would like to know why no permits were pulled with all the construction at the airport.

We would like to have all the fishy stuff investigated so the public can find out what was going on.

Enjoy column but don't always agree with the opinions

This is after-the-fact, but I really liked the editorial Ivan wrote about his daughter and the skydiving incident. He is a good writer when he's not rushed, and I enjoy his frequent reference to events in history. But some viewpoints I don't agree with — even if I enjoy the column.

Did Mayor Oakley not notice a north-end subdivision?

In addition to the Applewood 2 subdivision, Mayor Oakley did not notice the lovely homes built in a new subdivision in the north end — or don't we count? Hundreds of beautiful homes have been built and occupied in the former urban renewal site.

And, what about the new homes a previous administration negotiated on vacant county land. Surely he is counting that and the new golf course as one of his accomplishments!

Letter writer blasted for picking on lady with hyperthyroidism

This is intended for the poor frightened lady who was at the Westland Summer Festival and wrote the article about the daughter of the well-known "troublemaker."

Have you ever heard of hyperthyroid? I'm a good friend of Goliath, she was diagnosed with hyperthyroidism four months ago. Her thyroid has been dead for 10 years.

As for her supposedly laughing at you, you are lucky that she doesn't have the temperament of her mother; otherwise, when people write cowardly letters about her, they might get a poke in the head. And you don't have a swing set big enough to take down Goliath.

Please don't pity her. She has more self-esteem than you'll ever know. She doesn't have to pick on people in letters to newspapers and tell them of their imperfections.

Speaking of that, have you looked at the mayor lately? I don't think so.

By the way, California needs a poster girl for people who need to check their plastic surgeon's credentials.

Gracins one of few to stand up to machine and not buckle

If I were the Gracins, I wouldn't do another thing for the city of Westland. I read the Sound Off questioning Mr. Gracin and I tell you, that was low.

Anyone that watched them for months and months would know better. How many people in this city stood up to the machine and didn't buckle? Nobody else being sued not once but twice?

I gave to the fund and I don't doubt that it was used for the purpose and intent for which it was given.

As far as I'm concerned, he's exactly the kind of guy we need in office. My vote will go to someone who has the tenacity to say no to the shenanigans and cheating and who will not buckle when pressure is on.

Elswick leads Twisters to 3rd win, 31-0 Twisters QB passes for 374 yards, 2 TDs

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Behind a phenomenal passing performance by veteran quarterback Rob Elswick, the Twisters roared past Battle Creek, 31-0, Saturday night for their third consecutive victory in the Lakeshore Semiprofessional Football Conference.

"It was another great day for us and another phenomenal effort by Elswick and our defense," said J. Glenn Brothers, General Manager of the Twisters, a team made up for former local and area high school and collegiate talent.

The third straight impressive victory by the Twisters sent a message to the conference that the undefeated ball club is definitely the team to beat this season, according to Brothers.

Elswick was unstoppable as he completed 14 of 24 of his passes for a total of 374 yards and two touchdowns. On the receiving end of Elswick's passes were Donti Hamilton, who caught five for 139 yards, including a 74-yard touchdown on the Twisters' first play from scrimmage.

Reggie Brandon, a former Wayne Memorial standout, pulled in three catches for a total of 102 yards and one TD, while Frank Niscoromni pilled up 77 yards on 3 receptions.

Leading the ball carriers was Jaquan Wright who rushed for 63 yards on three carries, including his first TD as a Twister. Jason Gibson added 51 yards and a touchdown and had eight carries.

Nine Twister running backs accumulated a total of 166 yards while five different receivers added a total of 364 yards for a team total of 530 yards.

The 530 represents a Twister record, surpassing last week's 448 yards.

In addition, kicker Chuck Petipas remained "perfect" as he converted all four of his point-after attempts. He also connected on a 35-yard field goal, his fourth in a row over the last three games.

On defense, the Twisters proved to be impregnable. They harassed the Rattler's offense, holding the opposition to 37 yards on 22 rushing attempts and a mere 60 yards on a five of 23 passing game. The Twisters also forced nine punts while picking off two errant passes. They sacked the Rattler QB five times.

Glenn touted the Twisters' defense as being one of, if not the best, in the conference this year, thanks to the "five-man wrecking crew", made up of Aaron Brothers and Bob Pensant - both from Canton, Tim Simon, Chuck Lauber, and Travis Wright, who combined for a total of 14 solo tackles and 19 assists, including two sacks by Aaron Brothers and one by Travis Wright.

The remaining two sacks were registered by Lonney Bryant and Henry Jones. Deon Perry and DeVaughn Smith each had an interception.

"Competition only gets tougher as the season progresses, and if we are to continue controlling our opponents, we must minimize our mistakes and mental errors," said Brothers.

The Twisters' CEO added that "Coach Brown has a firm grip and is doing an exceptional job."

"In what I consider is a very short time, he has captured the respect and admiration of each team member, including myself. He is an outstanding mentor and role model," Brothers stressed.

The Twisters will seek to stretch their winning streak at the expense of the Rage, another team out of Battle Creek. The two Lakeshore rivals will clash at 7 p.m. on Saturday at the Twisters' home field, (Willow Run's Devlin Stadium).

The Rage is a strong challenger for the LSFL North Division title, a title that presently is owned by the Twisters.

Tickets are still available at $5 (adults) and $2 for students. Children under the age of 10, accompanied by an adult, and seniors, 60 and over, will be admitted free of charge.

Canton's Taekwondo team members made an excellent showing at the national invitational staged in Tampa, Florida, where 11 of the 12 members won medals, including two golds. Members of the team are Patrick Bradford (first row, from left), Ethan Walsh, Benjamin Kil, and Sarah Walsh; second row are Jessica Newberry, Arnie Marx, Michelle Robinson, Candace Samona and Grand Master Sang Sop Kil. Not available at the time of the photo are team members Keenan Brantley, Shannon Judd, Hana Kil and Eric Lee.

Future Olympic stars Canton karate team finds tourney gold

Canton Township's future Olympic karate stars struck gold at the recently-held U. S. Taekwondo Championships staged in Tampa, Florida.

Some 12 students of 9th Black Belt and Michigan U. S. Taekwondo Union president, Grand Master Sang Sop Kil's team participated in the 21st annual Junior Olympics.

Of the 12, 11 members of the team earned medals including two gold medals, five silver medals, two bronze medals and two fourth-place medals.

The Canton athletes included Patrick Bradford, Keenan Brantley, Shannon Judd, Benjamin Kil, Hana Kil, Eric Lee, Annie Marx, Jessica Newberry, Michelle Robinson, Candace Samona, Sarah Walsh and Ethan Walsh.

More than 4700 tackwondo students, ages eight through 17 from all 50 states and Puerto Rico participated in the national meet which was staged over a period of four days.

In order to qualify for the championships, each participant must have received a gold, silver or bronze medal at one of their state's qualifying tournaments.

The athletes who place first in the 14-to-17 year old Black Belt Sparring Division automatically become members of the United States Junior Olympic Team.

Taekwondo training has promoted the formation of good moral character, respect, non-violent attitudes, discipline and positive behavior in the students, according to the Grand Master.

"It has also developed their balance, agility, power, muscular endurance, confidence and strength, as well as the lifesaving art of self-defense and personal protection," Kil added.

Taekwondo has become a full-medal Olympic sport beginning with the gold-medal performance by the United States at the 2000 Olympic Games scheduled in Sydney, Australia.

On May 22 to May 26, 2002, the 28th United States National Taekwondo Championship for participants 18 and older will be staged at the Cobo Hall in Detroit.

Cooperstown: Fitting end to Wayne season

On the campaign trail for the past couple of weeks, the Wayne Wolves could not find a better diamond or city in which to bring the 2001 season to an end.

Coach Bill Hardin's Wolves traveled to Cooperstown, New York.

Cooperstown houses the world-renown baseball's Hall of Fame.

The Wolves went 5-3 in their final invitational of the year. They turned back Elkridge, a team out of Maryland, 11-5, then shut out Middle Road, of Pennsylvania, 9-0, and made it three straight with a victory over Squire Hill, also of Pennsylvania, 12-2.

The Wolves won a 6-5 thriller from Cedar Grove, New Jersey and buried the Oklahoma Bandits, 22-0, before the tide suddenly turned.

The Generals, a team representing New Jersey, ended the Wolves five-game winning streak, 9-7. They also dropped a 9-7 decision to New Jersey's Storm.

With 48 teams competing at Coopersville, the Wayne Wolves managed to finish in the middle of the pack, in 17th place.

The Wolves also managed to finish a respectable seventh place at the National Amateur Baseball Federation's World Series, staged in Hopkinsville, New York. Wayne won three of its five games.

The Wolves defeated New Palestine, Indiana, 6-5, and also New Bartlett, Tennessee, 14-4. They also claimed a 11-8 victory over Spokane, Washington.

However, they drooped a 4-1 verdict to Clarksville, Tennessee, and a 9-7 decision to Nashville.

The Wolves, coached by Hardin, took a promising young team into the season and the players matured into excellent prospects. The lineup included: Mike Broughton, Alex Cowart, Billy Hardin, Bryon Glenn, J. J. Pierce, Will Lewis, Will Heininger, Jamell Terry, Anthony Savone and David White.

Prep football previews coming up next week

Collegiate football stars of the future checked into high-school football camps on Monday. With high hopes and aspirations, their journey to glory and conference titles and playoff berths have been launched.

The curtains went up on the 2001 high school football season as prospective players gathered around their coaches for instructions and drills which ultimately will prepare them for opening day.

For most local prep football teams, opening day is scheduled for Friday, August 24.

Who has the talent, and who is 'rebuilding'? How many new coaches have been hired to fill the gaps of those who decided to retire and quit? The Michigan Community Newspapers' sports staff will have the answers to these and other questions when the MCN publishes its annual Prep Football Previews.

Also, the MCN sports staff wishes to thank each and every athletic director (and especially their secretaries) for expeditiously faxing their fall sports schedules to our desk. As the saying goes, they're all in.

Have a successful - and equally important injury free - year, folks.

And, fans, why not fill those bleachers in support of your team this year. Make it a standing-room-only this season!

Kolderman was 'hot-man' on Red Tour His 76 leads Michigan Cup title race

Nick Kolderman believes in making a strong impression in a short time.

The talented linkster won on The Michigan Cup Golf Association Red Tour for the second consecutive week after finishing fifth in his first event two weeks ago.

Kolderman's latest exploits came at Taylor Meadows on Thursday when he carved out a pair of 38s on each nine to fire a 76 and gain a one-stroke victory over Chris Dujovski in the high school division.

Mike Ebel joined Dru Girard and Justin Zagata - both of Livonia - in a tie for third place with 79's.

It was a real horse race on the front side as Kolderman, Dujovski, Ebel and Girard all carded 38s before Kolderman broke the logjam with another 38 on the back - one less than Dujovski and two less than Ebel and Girard.

Kolderman and Ebel both had two birdies and a double-bogey on their front side 38s but Kolderman drilled seven pars and two bogeys on the back while Dujovski nailed six pars and three bogeys for his 39.

Dujovski, playing in his sixth Michigan Cup Junior Golf Association event, picked up 80 points for his runner-up spot and added 65 par points to take the outright lead in the MCIA overall point standings with 685 points.

Jason Adkins, who held the overall point lead for two weeks, is second with 620 and Canton's Nathan Perkovich is third with 610. Neither Adkins nor Perkovich played in last week's tourney.

Zagata, who scored an eagle three last week on Fox Hills' tough par five second hole, carded three birdies - on 7, 10 and 17 - to surge to a backside 38 for his 79.

Making the close tournament finish all the more exciting was the fact that Dujovski, Ebel, Giard and Zagata in the same foursome.

Phil Liddle (41-40-81) had a birdie on 10 in his sixth-place finish.

Forging a three-way tie for seventh spot were: Wayne's Josh Joseph (41-42-83); Wayne's Scott Jones (44-39-83) and Jon Ebel (41-42-83).

Then followed Angelo Fileccia (42-43-85) in 10th place; Richard Ganas (one birdie 41-45-86) in 11th; David Lughermo (one birdie 46-41-87) in 12th and Livonia's Brent Medlen 44-44-88 in 13th.

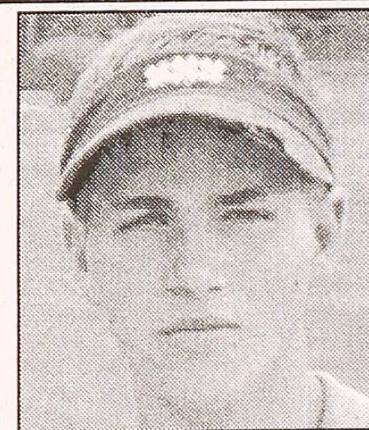

Rounding out the 20-man field are: Anthony Gemus (44-47-91);

Todd Stewart (46-47-93) and John Wloch (49-44-93); Canton's Brandon Scero (47-47-94); David Sheppard (46-49-95); Canton's Jamie Siedlaczek (48-48-96) and James Michelis (50-47-97).

In the middle school-age Blue Tour division, only three golfers participated and they were all from Canton.

Derek Schmitt took first-place honors with 52-47-99, Ben Underwood was runner-up with 52-50-102 and Nick Forsman ended with 54-51-105.

Underwood earned 85 points in the tournament to take second place in the Blue Division overall pooint standings with 435, well behind Plymouth's Zach Smith, who leads with 840.

Nick Kolderman

Schmitt garnered 110 points with his victory, swelling his total to 315. It was Forsman's first tourney and he earned 90 points.

City Golf Champions

Because of space limitations, the MCN Sports Staff was not able to publish last week all of the divisional and flight winners of the 2001 City Championship Golf Tournament. Among the winners included Karen Blackney (at right), who was the Women's Overall Champion after carding an 84-78-162 at Gateway. Immediately below are the Westland Women's Division medal winners. Frances Whitlark was the divisional medalist (center) and Virg Sexton finished runner up. Pat Rossi (at right) wound up in third place. In the bottom picture are the Canton's Divisional Champions - John Gabossi, who was the medalist (center); runner up Erik Spencer (at right) and third-place finisher Mike Hutchens.

Last chance Westland makes it to World Series

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

After a disappointing team performance at the 25th annual Lenny Anderson Invitational, Westland's LDJ/Varsity/Easton ball club had one more chance to qualify for the USSSA Men's World Series.

And, at first, it didn't look good for Manager Larry Quartuccio's team. They dropped their first game at the World Series Qualifier, staged at Liberty Park, in Sterling Heights, 16-10.

But the opening round loss apparently sent the right message through the Westland line up which exploded to win its next six games and finished second at the tournament and qualified for next month's World Series of Softball.

"The Major World Series is the ultimate event in amateur softball and only takes the top 16 teams in the nation," Quartuccio later explained. "The other fascinating thing about this world series is that it is played at Disney's Wide World of Sports Complex at Disney World in Orlando in the same stadium that the Atlanta Braves use for their spring training."

The World Series will be conducted from Sept. 19-23.

At the Sterling Heights Invitational, Creative Stucco, a team out of Columbus, Ohio, shocked the Westlanders in the opening round, 16-10. The Westlanders then bounced back and defeated rain-drenched Brandon, North Carolina, 23-14; eliminated Deery Brothers of Iowa, 23-16; eked a 19-15 victory out of Wartrom of Shelby Township, and claimed a 27-21 victory over New York's Mountain Top.

In the game for the World Series marbles, Westland had to play an extra inning affair with Mississippi/Worth before it pulled out a 28-23 victory in nine innings.

The local ball club then ran up against Maroadi, its old nemesis, and lost a 29-14 verdict in the title game.

Dujovski jumps into first place in Red Division

Chris Dujovski's second-place finish last week earned the area golfer 145 points that propelled him into first place in the Michigan Cup Junior Golf Association's overall point standings in the high school age Red Division with 685 points.

Jason Adkins is in second spot with 620 and Canton Township's Nathan Perkovich sits in third with 610.

Brian Hejka is fourth with 595, David Lughermo and Steve Robinson are tied with 585 and Josh Frison is seventh with 565 points.

Golfers on the Michigan Cup Junior Association tours can only earn points in six tournaments, and all of the above have played in six tournaments except Steve Robinson, who has an outside shot at the points title.

Also in the running is Wayne's Scott Jones, who has been playing some outstanding golf lately. Jones, who has entered five tournaments, earned 105 points for his seventh-place tie last week and currently has 550 with one more event to play.

Jones has won once, tied for sixth and tied for 7th in his last three MCJA events.

Wayne's Josh Joseph picked up 100 points for his seventh place tie with Jones last week and has accumulated 505 points, good for 12th place. Canton's Brandon Scero has played five events and his point total stands at 445, just ahead of Canton's Kyle Kosmyna's 430 points and Canton's Joe Pomorski's 405.

Dru Girard (545 points), Kyle Przydzial (520), Joseph Gagnon (510), Phil Liddle (475) and John Wloch (460) are in the middle of the pack, followed by Scero's 445.

Then comes Corey Skiff with 440, followed by Eddie Bellamy and Mike Ebel, both with 435 points

The Barrington

Developing real estate begins with developing people. As a leading name in real estate development, McKinley manages over 15,000 apartments and 5 million square feet of commercial space nationwide. But most importantly, we're a company committed to people and communities in which they live and work. We have an opportunity available for an experienced Maintenance Technician reporting to the community Maintenance Supervisor in our Barrington facility located in Romulus.

You'll maintain apartments and community buildings in a clean and orderly condition, and tend to furnaces, air conditioners, and boilers to provide heat, cool air, and hot water for residents. You'll also install, maintain, and repair machinery, equipment, physical structures and plumbing as well as electrical systems.

A minimum of 6 months apartment maintenance experience is required.

Interested candidates should contact Terri Terry at (734) 941-7070 or fax your resume to (734) 941-0750. EOE
